

ABSTRACT

[92] A vandal proof system and method for securing stone faceplates to supporting structures in columbariums or similar environments in which a non-standard torx screwdriver which penetrates the exposed face of the faceplate activates a fastening assembly having a rivet nut to secure the rivet nut to a supporting structure, the tightening pressure of the rivet nut screw forcing the prongs of a slotted spacer sleeve into jamming engagement with a hole in the rear of the faceplate.